From the New York Mirror. THE GREEN MOUNTAIN BOYS. BY WILLIAM C. BRYANT.

POETRY.

HERE halt we our march and pitch our tent,
On the rugged forest ground,
And light our fire with the branches rent,
By winds from the beeches round.
Wild storms have torn this aged wood,
But a wilder is at hand,
But helt of iren and raip of blood.

With hair of iron and rain of blood,
To sweep and scathe the land.

How the dark waste rings with voices shrill How the dark waste rings with the That startle the sleeping bird.
To-morrow eve must the voice be still,
And the step must fall unheard.
The Briton lies by the blue Champlain,
In Ticonderoga's towers,
And ere the sun rise twice again,
The towers and the lake are ours.

Fill up the bowl from the brook that glides, Where the fire-flies light the brake;

A ruddier juice the Briton hides,
In his fortress by the lake.
Build high the fire, till the panther leap From his lofty perch in fright, And we'll strengthen our weary arms with sleep,

BOSTON MOENING POST.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1830.

National Assimilation .- We presented our readers, with a few remarks, some days since, reprobating the jealous feelings towards Irish emigrants which are encouraged in the breasts of our native population. It should be the special object of legislators to goard the people of the land from all those circumstances which have a tendency to interrupt the progress of moral and political assimilation. On this account the emigration of foreigners is an evil-but it is a necessary evil, and it is attended with many advantages to our progress in wealth. The people of one country ought to consist only of one race, as different races feel a natural antipathy towards one another. It would be better, also, if the whole people believed in the same religion, as sectarian differences naturally give occasion to enmity and strife. In fine, they should all be brethren as it were-that they may be united in their love of their country and in their zeal for its glory. While the people consist of various nations, and races, maintaining different opinions and influenced by different prejudices, and governed by different habits and customs, the government will be in continual danger of anarchyan evil which, as long as it lasts, is worse than despotism. Under such circumstances, the land will be subject to frequent riots, arising from the jealousies and conflicting prejudices of the different races; and harmony will never prevail, until the people, by constant intercourse together, have at length become assimilated-until one national feature characterises all the inhabitants.

Yet the Irish people, who have emigrated to our shores, though they differ from us exceedingly in education, habits and opinions, are nevertheless an offspring from the same stock. The physical differences between the Irish and the English, from whom the Americans have chiefly descended, are not so great as to claim any attention from the physiologist-and the moral differences between them are entirely the result of education. Hence, the Irish are not properly regarded by us as a different race of people -as we regard the North American Indian, the Malay, or the Mulatto, to say nothing of the Negro. We cannot distinguish the descendants of the Irish from the descendants of our own native stock, except in the first generation-so little do we differ from one another in feature and complexion. Hence, no objection can be urged against Irish emigration, on account of any difficulty of assimilation with our people, in a physical sense; and they may be easily assimilated to ourselves in a moral sense, if they are but treated with kindness and allowed to enjoy the privileges of our own citizens. It is not so with the Negro or the Indian. They differ from us so remarkably in feature, complexion, and in the structure of their minds, that they can never, by any menns, become assimilated to our own people. The Irish and the Americans on the other hand, are children of the same great family-diff ring only as they have been reared and educated under a different government and a different religion, with different advantages of education. Both people are derived from the Celuic variety of the human race. Hence, there should be no difference in the privileges of Irish emigrants and those of our own native citizens-since every difference in their dinner; and when he met with a comfortable dead horse privileges would have a tendency to retard that assimilato creep into, he found board and lodging combined. His tion which ought to be encouraged by all our efforts. It is only by granting them these privileges, that their posterity can be raised to a level with Americans, and be > Independence of Servants .- We hear constant lamentations, on account of the independence of that class of people whom we call servants. A scarcity of any useful class of laborers is surely a worthy subject of commentation; but it seems to us hardly consistent with republicanism to lament the independence of any class. As soon as any class of the people has ceased to be independent, that class is reduced to a state of slavery, and the spirit of our republican institutions is proportionably destroyed. Is it a reasonable subject of lamentation, that we are not at liberty to fix the price of services, and to mark out the line of duty of a certain class of our fellow-citizens without any power on their part to resist? We hear certain people talk of the blessed state of things in those monarchical countries, where laborers and servants are so numerous the wealth of the nation in their hands, to be able to command the best of services, at a price which does not enroach upon their luxurious expenses; and truly it may be thought a blessed state of things by those who delight in exercising authority, to be able, with impunity, to kick and abuse their fellow men, who are obliged to serve them.

But, is this a happy state of things for the community at large? Are the lazy, indeed, more happy for being able to indulge their indolence at the expense of their healthor the cruel more happy for being able to indulge their tyranical spirit at the expense of their mental tranquility ?-Under such circumstances, one class of the community is rendered miserable by indolence and luxury, and another class by excessive labor and want. That community must necessarily enjoy the greatest amount of happiness, in which every individual bears his jest proportion of the burdens of society, and in which every individual may enjoy his just proportion of leisure and recreation. Is it not better that all the members of society should be obliged to toil one half the day, and enjoy leisure during the remainder, than that one half the community should toil the whole of the day, that the other balf may be enabled to spend the whole of the day in indolence and pleasure? In the former case every individual may enjoy the comforts of life and be happy; in the other case those who labor are made miserable by excessive toil, and those who bunge are made miserable by excessive luxury and indolence. The former need that portion of leisure and recreation which is necessary for happiness, the latter need that portion of labor and study which is necessary for the health of body and mind-and thereby the whole community is deprived

We have reason, therefore, to thank fortune on account of the independence of servants. So long as they continue independent, no class of our citizens will be enervated by indolence and luxury, and no other class degraded and worn out by slavery and toil. Happy are those citizens who are obliged to labor as much as their health requires-and happy are those laborers who are sufficiently independent to demand proper treatment and adequate compensation as a reward for their services.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Correspondence of the Beston Post. Herald Office, Prov. Nov. 17, 1836, 1 o'clock, P. M. Dear Su-Permit us to introduce our dear little sister As Finn said "she's little one to look at, but a good 'un to go." Without going into particulars, I have only at present to say, that we have carried the Van Buren ticket by about 200 majority. Our opponents worked secretly, as in Connecticut, but the democracy of Rhode Island will not soon be again successfully assailed. Our sentine's are placed at every alarm post-and this recent attempt of the enemy will hereafter keep us on the alert. Yours truly.

THE CHARLESTOWN ELECTION.

Mr Editor:-The " whigs" take the result of the late election in Charlestown very unkindly. Some are sour -some lachrymal-some full of evil prophesyings-while a few bear their "stock on fluke" beat with commendable good humor. Your neighbor of the "Mercantile" feels rather cross at the loss of his Representative seat, and pours forth his bile, in an article on the Charlestown democrats, of which he ought to be heartily ashamed.

But for this article, it might be well to let the events of the recent canvass pass without notice. But the whigs seem disposed to look back, and the democrats have no objections to following them. As to the efforts made, both parties unquestionably did their best. The democrats are willing to own that they worked, and worked hard, and left no fair and honorable means untried to ensure success. As to the "pledging" system, which troubles Mr Sleeper so much, it is only a bug-bear of his own excited imagination.

As to the course pursued by the whigs, a brief history will speak for it elf. They had their caucuses-their rallying committees-their "drillings," &c. &c. And their men were zealous in their respective callings. They even visited the Navy Yard, and-tell it not in Gath!-they " marked and numbered" as many of the " 200" government voters as they could obtain; and with such success, too, that one of their leading men boasted of it previous to the election !! So much for another of Mr Sleeper's

With respect to their caucus, Friday evening, the whigs themselves are a-hamed of it. Their speakers were bitter same quarter, called them "lousey!!" But this is not all. These "honorable men," so sensiscrupled not to steal the good-old-time-honored republican name, and head their ticket with the "DEMOCRATIC WHIG" caption !! So much for the means used to carry the vote. We recommend Mr Sleeper to preach a little morality to his own party, before he attempts again to lecture his opponents,

One word with regard to the success of the democracy It was accomplished by fair and honorable exertion. The party was united. There was no bickering-no contention. Every thing was done as it should have been-with zeal, but without bitterness toward opponents. Much, very much, is due to W. Sawyer, Esq., for his able, candid, and gentlemanly address at the caucus on Sunday evening, and to B. F. Hallett, Esq., for his animating and truly democratic speech on the same occasion. These efforts contributed to infuse an impulse into our ranks, which has been long wanted, and which resulted in the complete overthrow of the whig party in Charlestown.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT .- Appeal from a conviction for a libel .- Joseph A. Whitmarsh, being convicted for a libel on Thomas L. Nichols, in the Municipal Court, appealed. For the appellant, Benj. F. Hallett, Esq. appeared as counsel; for the government, S. D. Parker, Esq. Mr. Hallett went into a very elaborate argument against the existence of the law of particularly requested. libel; and Mr. Parker went into a very rapid and general one in favor of it.

Judge Morton charged the jury last evening, in substance, that the existence of the criminal law of libel had been recognized immediately before and after the revolution, by those, who from their position, it was reasonable to presume, were acquainted with the whole law upon the subject; and that it existed, if at all, as being adopted from the common law of England, and not since repealed, as it was not pretended that it had any existence in consequence of any specific enactment of the legislature; nor could it be pretended, that the acts of the legislature relating to the subject, either created the law or gave vital-

His Honor held, that the constitutional provision, that the liberty of the press, should not be restrained, was, like the citizen's right of liberty of action, a qualified liberty. The citizen had an unrestrained fredom of action, yet if he, in the exercise of that freedom, committed a crime, he might of course, be legally punished. His Honor considered that the legislature by four enactments, subsequent to the adoption of the constitution, had, in a manner, assumed the existence of the law, and tacitly expressed their approbation of it. Otherwise, he said, it would have been much easier for them to have declared that there was and should be, no such law, than to pass Statutes respecting the mode of trial, appeals, and punishment for libels.

In stating his opinion in favor of the law, his Honor observed that he should feel it to be presumption in himself, being but an individual member of the court, to undertake to reverse the cur rent of decisions of successive courts down to the present time; but still, if a verdict of guilty should be returned by the jury, the whole subject might still be brought before the full bench. and there, upon discussion, it might, or might not, be found that the course of the Judiciary had not been correct upon the subject. He was not prepared to say what conclusion he should arrive at, should ever it come before them in that aspect. When the jury retired, the Court adjourned.

EXPERIENCE aersus THEORY.

R. W. EVANS' CAMOMILE PILLS, having long acquired an exalted reputation in private practice by an invarible efficacy which could only have resulted from their explicted worth, he is confident that he has only to get them extensively known to render that reputation universal. Unlike tensively known to render that reputation universal. Unlike the elamorous host of quack medicines with which the columns of the public press are crowded, these Camomile Pills, have the testimony of the whole nedical profession in their favor, and not a single case of ill consequences or inefficacy to be alledged against them. Their very name candidly acknowledges what they are composed of—and they honestly promise no more than they taithfully perform. They are composed of a beautiful extract of the Camomile flowers, in which all the tonic and restorative principles of that inestimable plant is preserved; and its irritating principle is neutralised by an alkeline infusion—they, therefore, necessarily afford immediate relief, in all cases of dyspepsia, or other derangements of the digestive organs. In sick headaches, nervous debility spasmodic affections, prostration of muscular and vital energy, and consequent loss of ease, comfort, and ultimately of life itself they restore health in the most impaired and hopeless constithey restore health in the most impaired and hopeless constithey restore health in the most impaired and hopeless consti-tutions, not by being taken in excessive quantities, for the ne-cessity of their use continually decreases, as of course it ought to do, if they are good for anything—by their direct adapta-tion to the powers of the human stomach. There is one dis-ease, however, which is unhappily but too prevalent, in which their ability will perhaps become pre-eminent, and that is in the disease which is produced by violent drastic purges, taken in pernicious quantities, and which may be termed the Quack Mortem? disease. The excessive debility, both of body and mind, produced by this destructive practice, can only be relieved by a tonic, and such as the Camomile preparation be relieved by a tonic, and such as the Camonile preparation contains. Dr W. Evans supplies an antidote for a host of public poisons, and a remedy for all those diseases which he professes to cure. A single trial will prove the vast superiority of a course of practice which is based upon science, experione, common sense and honesty.

TO THE LADIES.—Amongst thousands of ladies benefitted
by Dr W Evans' Camomile Pills, Mrs M. Beaumont (corner of Canal and Washington streets) has kindly allowed it to made known for the benefit of others, that she was brought (by mental affliction) to a very weak and bad state of health, with pains in the side and head, was recommended to take Dr. W. Evans' Camomile Pills, which she has done to her comfort of mind and restoration of health. MRS. M. BEAUMONT. TO THE AFFLICTED .- For the benefit of the public, and gratitude to Dr W. Evans, I consider it a duty I owe, Io make known the great good I have derived from EVANS' CAMO alle PILLS. having been five years afflicted with dyspepsia of the worst kind, I made application to numerous sources without benefit, but by the use of three bottles of Evans' Camomile Pills, and three boxes of Evans's Aperient Pills I have found signal relief, fully to my satisfaction, and I am more healthy than I have been for many years. The symptoms (which were pains in the chest, weaknesses in the whole frame, heart-burn, flatulency, acidity, and headache) are all removed. I deliver this testimony over to Dr Evans, for his and the public benefit, for it to be made known. I hereby sign my name and address.

New York, March 25, 1830.

My knowledge of the properties and operation of the "Arcaum of Dr Phelps," justify me in saying that it is far superior of any depurative syrup with which I am acquainted. In the most obstinate and ambiguous deseases, it displays effects peculiarly surprising. In those affections that resist the skill of the physician, such as Rheumansm, Syphilis, Scrofula, Ulcerations, and Diseases of the Skin, &c., I would recommend it as worthy of great confidence.

My diesase was the sequela of bad treatment, while in the more tropical latitudes, and laboring under an acute inflamation of the liver, and other Billiary organs. Prior and pubsequently to our arrival in this port, I have had recourse to a great variety of prescriptions, medicines and nostrums—among which, were a number of bottles of Swaim's Panacea, Potter's Catholicon, the Rob of Laffecteur, &c., but without any benefit—Dr Phelps being at that time a student of medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, advised me to make use of a newly discovered medicine, the Arcanum, which he believed would succeed in relieving me, in consequence of the very signal effects himself and others had observed in its operation in variouglandular diseases, that were otherwise considered incurable. glandular diseases, that were otherwise considered incurable. I commenced its use accordingly, and it affords mepleasure to state, that for several months past, not a vestige of the originity or secondary disease has been discoverable. I prize the medi or secondary disease has been ascending of the cone above all others with which I have ever been acquainted It is both pleasant and I believe certain it its effects, as a rema dy in a variety of chronic diseases, incident to tropical and other climates.

Gent.—I cannotrefrain from expressing my gratitude to you n offering me a bottle of Dr Pheles' Arcanum, as an exper ment in my case of Rheumatism. I have been dreadfully at flicted for upwards of twelve months, and for the last four of five months have scarcely been able to walk. I have used a dozen bottles of Swaam's Panacea, and found very little benefit from it. After taking the bottle of Arcanum, I found such a change in my whole system, that I was induced to try another, and to my surprise, the pains in my legs all disappeared, and the Ulcers in one have completely healed up, and I can walk marry as well as ever. I shall continue to take two bottles more, and firmly believe it will make a complete cure of my disease.

As far as I have had an opportunity of ascertaining its virtues, I believe the Arcanum to be superior to any article of the kind, yet offered to the public. I prescribed it in a case of Irritable Ulcer of three years standing, situated on the Malleolus Extrenus—the individual thus afflicted was much emaciated and debilitated,—after one week's attendance, I put him upon the Arcanum, following the directions. this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting painover almost the whole system—the food that I are seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain as tended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs, to be a very valuable medicine.
